What to do if someone discloses to you...

A child may confide in any member of staff and they don't always go to teachers. Staff to whom a disclosure is made should remember:

- Yours is a listening role; do not interrupt the child if he or she is freely recalling a significant event. Any questions that may be needed to clarify what the child is saying should be framed in an open manner and not 'lead' the child in any way.
- Make a note of the discussion as soon as is reasonably practical (but within 24 hours) and pass on to the CPT Leader. The note should record the date, time, place and people who were present as well as what was said. This may be used in subsequent court proceedings.
- Do not ever, give a child an undertaking of absolute confidentiality.
- Finally but most importantly, inform the CPT Leader immediately and give your notes to them. Your responsibility in referring concerns ends at this point.

If you are not sure it is a serious disclosure, always speak with the CPT Leader or a member of the CPT team.

Better safe than sorry.
